LEADING POLICE OFFICIALS CONFER IN LINDBERGH CASE

The Castleton Monday, March 7, 1932
12:15 to 1:30 p.m.

Fellow Rotarian:

Our regular monthly business meeting and the welcoming of new members.

We really should not give you any detail of the program as our attendance last week was high. It just goes to show that men are just as curious as women.

Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, veteran head of New York's police force, remarked:

Plans Vague

"It seems to me that all plans made so far to bring about the return of the Lindbergh baby have been very vague."

"I suggest that a committee of clergymen and lawyers be appointed to deal with the situation and take it out of the hands of everyone else—that is, if Colonel Lindbergh wants to meet the demands of the kidnappers."

"This committee should direct its efforts toward giving the kidnappers fair play. The promises made so far are not convincing. That they do not sound convincing enough to make the kidnappers have any confidence in the promises of immunity. The committee would serve this purpose."

Lindbergh Protests

Governor Moore revealed that Colonel Lindbergh had just telephoned him to protest about the publicity given to police efforts to apprehend the kidnappers.

"The Colonel said that the many wild and absolutely baseless reports printed in newspapers have hurt the chances of his getting his child back safely," Governor Moore declared.

The New Jersey chief executive informed the delegates that both Col. Lindbergh and his wife were "bearing up bravely."

At the beginning of the session, a flurry of excitement was caused when attendants found a newspaperman hiding in shower-bath adjoining the Governor's office. He was promptly ejected by state troopers.

Centralized Activities

Among the first arrivals was John A. Swanson, State's Attorney of Cook County, Illinois. He was asked what he considered the best method of tracking down the kidnappers and recovering the child.

"My idea," he said, "is that all activities be centralized under one directional head, preferably Federal jurisdiction."

Swanson was asked whether he felt Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had followed the right course in agreeing to pay any ransom demanded and promising immunity to the kidnappers.

"If it were my baby," Swanson said slowly, "I would get it back one way or another."

With Swanson arrived Detective-Lieutenant William J. Cusack, of Chicago, selected by Mayor Anton Cermak to represent Chicago police at the conference, and Pat Roche, Chicago's famed criminal investigator.

Mulrooney On Hand

William Cody, Chief of Detectives of Cleveland, also was on hand in advance of the meeting at 11 a.m.

Next to arrive was Inspector William J. Collins of Detroit.

Then came Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York, accompanied by Chief Inspector John O'Brien, and the next was William J. Egan, Director of Public Safety of Newark. They were followed by Police Chief William P. Walter of Trenton.

When Commissioner Mulrooney was asked what he thought of the case, he shrugged his shoulders.

"It looks as if they were up against a stone wall," he said.

As the conferees were arriving, the ladder which was used in the kidnapping was brought into Governor Moore's office for the detectives and chiefs to study as the most important piece of evidence that has come to hand.

The conferees posed for photographs and Governor Moore passed around cigars as the time came for the meeting to begin.

Friday, March 4, 1932, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Donaldson, 712 Carlisle street, following an illness of three months, which resulted from a stroke which she suffered prior to her last illness. Her death comes as a shock to the entire community and especially to her family and her many friends. She was loved and esteemed by all who knew her and her death removes one of the most active persons in the religious life of the community.

Mrs. Ayres was born in West Middlesex, Pa., the daughter of William P. and Elizabeth Forbes Sweasy on September 6, 1853, and was 78 years of age. She had been a resident of this city for 50 years and during the half century that she spent here she yielded an influence especially along church and religious lines, that will make her place hard to fill.

She had been a most active member of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city during the entire 30 years that she resided here, taking part in every form of its many activities in that time, including the Sunday school and various societies and organizations. She had been for many years and was president of the Ladies Aid society of the church at the time of her death.

Her husband preceded her in death 20 years ago. She leaves the following children: W. G. Ayres of this city, Mrs. Ralph E. Donaldson, at whose home she died, E. M. Ayres of Stockertown, Pa., and Mrs. Arthur E. Boyd of Warren, O., also five grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Thomas Forbes, died in Florida and was buried one week ago in West Middlesex. Mrs. Ayres was the last of a family of 12 children.

Japs Hold Line.

SHANGHAI, Mar. 5.—Japanese forces of more than 20,000 men are holding a 15-mile front, well inland from the Yangtze and Whampoa banks and extending to a point 25 miles north of Shanghai. General Yoshinori Shirakawa told International News Service today.

General Shirakawa, Japan's supreme war councilor now commanding the entire Japanese military operations in the Shanghai area, revealed he had lined up new troops which landed at Lihuo a few days ago, with him into this effective formation.

The Japanese commander declared his men held the entire front from Lihuo south through Kaiting to Nanming, the latter point having been the scene of heavy fighting during the past few days. Kaiting, too, has seen several severe skirmishes.

Japanese Outnumbered.

Opposing him, he declared, are 10,000 Chinese, more than three times as many men as he has. In his numbers he included land, naval forces.

Shirakawa, during the interview, revealed a spot hot in his heart by expressing sympathy for the Chinese forces, praising their determined and long successful stand against the Japanese even though they lacked the airplanes and artillery formed a major art of the Japanese offensive.

DEATH PENALTY FOR KIDNAPPERS

CONGRESS intends to go after kidnappers in a drastic manner. Even before the Lindbergh baby was stolen from its bed and carried away, bills had been introduced for making the offense Federal when a State boundary had been crossed by this class of criminals. Naturally action will be hastened by the outrage invasion of the Lindbergh home, although the desire of the House is that its attitude should not be misunderstood; that it does not wish the public to think that it is rushing into important legislation impulsively. Measures dealing with kidnappers were on the programme for passage before the end of this session. Nevertheless, the public will feel better if the legislative machinery is speeded. It will be. The delay apparently is to be a matter of but a few days.

Congress must proceed under the authority given it to control interstate commerce. If a kidnapper remains within the State where he has operated the Federal Government can not touch him. But if he carries his victim beyond State lines the long arm of Federal law can reach out for him. The bill which the Judiciary Committee of the House has before it provides for a penalty of death or imprisonment for a term of years to be fixed by the trial court. It may be for life. In its perfected form the bill will shortly be reported for adoption and a duplicate measure introduced in the Senate will be promptly considered by the Judiciary Committee of that body. In the meantime the House Committee on Postoffices has reported a bill increasing the penalty for the use of the mails to collect ransoms to a fine of $5,000 or twenty years' imprisonment or both from $1,000 and five years.

Passage of such legislation should be of distinct help in running down kidnappers. It would tend to confine them within a State's boundaries. If the individual Commonwealths will follow the example of Congress and make far more radical laws that are now too lenient, the despicable business will be conducted with much greater peril. The mental torture that parents undergo places this crime in a class by itself. It can not be punished too severely.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

Further evidence of improvement in the world financial situation is recorded in the payment by England of heavy obligations incurred in this country last autumn to tide over the emergency created by the panic flight from the pound. The ability of that nation to pay off indebtedness in excess of a hundred million pounds before the notes were due makes it clear that more progress has been made there in the processes of financial reconstruction than has been believed.

On advances made by foreign nations to Germany at about the same time the Reichsbank is making a 10 per cent payment this week. The financial stress there is still acute but with the banking reorganization which was effected a week or so ago fairly rapid recovery is hoped for.

These foreign developments are doubly hopeful because they fall at a time when marked progress in meeting the credit crisis is noted in this country. The banking situation here has improved markedly in the last two or three weeks and with it confidence is being restored and the foundation laid for the beginning of the normal banking and financial operations which were so rudely interrupted last fall.

There seems thus to be ground for believing that the credit crisis of last year, like earlier credit crises, will be comparatively short lived and that this unhappy phase of the depression will soon be history.

From the point of view of business recovery this is an essential preliminary step. Industry cannot expand, trade cannot increase until credit in something like the normal volume is available to finance expansion wherever it appears.

Unlike credit crises severe industrial depressions of the kind we are in do not pass quickly. They entail adjustments that can be effected only with the passing of time and shocks the effect of which is felt for months and sometimes for years. For the hopeful turn of events in the credit field in leading nations at the same time is none the less significant. Without it industrial recovery would be impossible.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SECRET OF POPULARITY

Many folks, particularly young people of reserved natures, worry because they are not "popular." They envy folks who always have admirers and friends. Many people of superior intellect look down on popularity. They feel it shows a too easy-going nature. They hold that if a person is to live sincerely and do his duty, he must often antagonize others, and make himself exceedingly unpopular.

Popularity comes in different ways. In the old days of free liquor a lot of people acquired popularity by the freedom with which they "set 'em up." This was the basis on which many politicians got their start. They were always ready to line up their friends in front of the brass rail. Many people win popularity by free living, extravagantly and scattering cash in all directions.

On the other hand many people acquire popularity by devoting themselves to some public cause. College boys who carry on student activities, usually acquire popularity. They are entitled to it because they have to devote much time to maintaining the reputation of their institutions.

Similarly in community life. Many people acquire popularity just by giving a great deal of effort to public activities, often more than superior persons who criticize them are willing to devote to such causes. Many people acquire popularity by the friendly interest they show everybody, by a winsome smile and cordial manner.

People who live self-absorbed lives are not popular and do not deserve to be. Any person can acquire a certain measure of popularity by manifesting interest and doing helpful things for others and performing service for the community.

All Of Us

That Inner Jackass
He's in Us All
How Loudly He Brays

BY MARSHALL MASLIN
 W. E. Woodward says there's a jackass in every one of us. In himself. In you. In me, too. And everyone has moments of fatal indiscretion (says he) times when the jackass that lives in all men and women steps out and brays. Unfortunately these moments are usually beyond recall and survive forever. Before the jackass is batted over the head, the deed is done, the check is mailed, the marriage proposal has been made, the boss has been insulted, the asinine anecdote has started on its travels. It is a law of life.

He calls this the Woodward Theory of the Inner Jackass and he evolved it out of the suffering and embarrassment of his own soul. He knows all about that jackass. He knows what it feeds on, he knows how loudly that jackass brays, he knows how powerfully that animal can kick.

So does everybody else. We're all got a jackass. We've all heard him bray and felt his steel-shod hooves on portions of our persons.

See that man over there. He was sitting quietly in his chair and suddenly he blushed. All by himself, with nobody talking to him, the mantle of shame crept over his face. Suddenly he remembered something incredibly asinine that he did fifty years ago.

He needn't confess to us. We know.

Notice that dignified lady, the one with grandchildren at her knees. I saw her blushing one day. She was thinking of the slip of the tongue she made on August 26, 1887.

She was remembering how silly she was in the spring of '98.

She heard the hump of the Inner Jackass, restless in his stall.

I am blushing. I'm remembering a number of things I did long, long ago—when I was 10, when I was 15, when I was 19, when I was 22, when I was 30—and just last week, too. What were those things?

Never mind, I'll tell nobody. They weren't sins, they were just absurd, stupid, ignoramus stunts, and you'll not persuade me to put them into words.

My Inner Jackass is the only creature that knows them. When I'm pretending to be wise, I hear him bray. When I'm strictly on my dignity, I feel his swift, sharp hooves upon me.

He has a vicious disposition and his manners are atrocious and I'd hardly say I love him. But I wouldn't be trading him for Pegasus or Black Beauty or even Man o' War. How about your own Inner Jackass?

GAMBLING LIMITS

In your poker playing or betting on points in any games in which you engage, isn't it true that you often play for too high stakes?

The losses you sustain are more than you can stand, financially.

As a result debts for necessities are unpaid and your credit suffers.

Often embarrassing situations are met by members of your family because of the money you have lost in gambling in being a so-called good fellow.

If you would set a limit to the amount you think you can lose before starting your game and stick to it, your total losses would not be so large.

Often you have said to yourself that you would stop playing when an initial pile of chips was used.

Have you ever kept such a promise to yourself?

No. You have bought more and more thinking luck would certainly turn your way before the evening was over.

It is when Lady Luck seems entirely against you that you persist in trying to win her favors.

To regain your money where you lost it may work all right in raising crops, but it does not work out in a gambling game and you are foolish to consider it.

There is a little lad in school

Whose mother in a large hotel

Attends the whims of sage and fool

That he may learn to write and spell.

He never sees the loaded tray

Of dishes which she has to bear

Or bears the silly things men say

In jest while she is toiling there.

He is too young to understand

Why rightly to the town she goes

And passes food to people grand

In banquet rooms that never close.

In years to come that boy may grow

To sit at banquet tables trim,

And seeing the waitresses, he'll know

All that his mother braved for him

DAIRY MEETINGS TO BE HELD

R. H. Olmstead, Dairy Specialist from State College will be the speaker at two dairy meetings in Lawrence County next week. The topic of discussion will be "Bang Disease of Cattle and its Control." This is a disease which is causing heavy losses to dairymen in many sections and will be of interest to every herd owner. The schedule of these meetings:

Wednesday, March 9th at 10:00 a.m. Fireman's Hall, New Wilmington.

Wednesday, March 16th at 2:00 p.m. Home of Dr. Fred Taylor, Pulaski.

GET GOOD PROSPECTS FOR LAYING FLOCKS

Within the next few weeks Lawrence County farmers will lay the foundation of their egg crops for the period of September, 1932. As one year later. The size, quality and profits of that harvest will depend basically on the baby chicks received next summer.

Good chicks can be developed only from good chicks, but even good chicks may be stunned and

ADD NEW VEGETABLES TO 1932 GARDEN LIST

Many Lawrence County gardeners add one or two new vegetables to their list of old reliable each year.

In this way they become acquainted with the uncommon kinds and often find tasty additions to the diet.

Among those suggested for consideration are broccoli, Chinese cabbage, Swiss chard, endive, kale and spinach.

Broccoli is grown the same as early cauliflower. The green flower clusters and stalks are harvested while tender before the blossom buds are open. Italian green sprouting is the variety recommended.

Chinese cabbage is planted July 1 to 15 in a light soil that holds moisture well. The plants are thinned to eight inches apart in the row and allowed to form heads for "Chihi" and "Narrow Head" recommended varieties.

Swiss chard is sown like early carrots, but thinned to eight inches apart. Cutting begins when the plants are as large as a tablespoon. Frequent harvesting gives tender leaves. Fordhook Giant is a good variety.

Cultural directions for growing include call for covering the seed in flats or early July, thinning the plants to about eight inches, tying the tops in bunches for hanging, or boards for later use and storing. Broad leaved Batavian and Green Curled are recommended varieties.

Dwarf Curled Scotch kale can be sown about August and the plants thinned to six inches apart.

Weather Favors Men Working At Pymatuning Dam

Have Only Lost Half Day In Over Three Weeks Because Of Rain

MOST OF LOCAL MEN HOME OVER WEEK-END

Working conditions at the great Pymatuning Dam project, where a number of New Castle men are now working, clearing away the brush and timber from the land which will later be submerged, are much improved, a visit to the Westford camp reveals.

Friday morning was the first time men at the Westford camp have been unable to work on account of rainy weather and they are all looking forward eagerly to pay day.

The men at the second camp have been classified according to their ability and desirability to work. If a man proves himself a first class workman and makes no trouble he has been placed in Class A, and will be kept on the job for eight weeks; those who fall a little below this standard are rated Class B, men and remain for six weeks; those who do not fit into the scheme as well as the two classes listed above are rate Class C, men and are only given four weeks of work.

The camp is a model of efficiency, and everything is kept spic and span. No complaint is made by the men in regard to working conditions, which while different from what most of the men have been accustomed to, things are made as easy for them as possible.

Living out-of-doors as they do, working in the woods, the men develop voracious appetites and sometimes the meals are not quite sufficient, they report. This is the only real complaint a News representative heard during a visit to the camp Friday afternoon.

Most of the New Castle men at the camp are home over the weekend, several of them having been called back to work at the tin mill, while others came back to visit their folks, friends and relatives having provided transportation.

The men are making good progress in clearing off the bottom lands along the banks of the upper Shenango, which is little more than a creek where they are located. They are working in a wet place, but are provided with boots and very few have suffered any discomfort or illness.

They have to walk several miles to get to and from their work, and when bedtime arrives, all are eager to turn in.

NEW WILMINGTON NOTES

Mrs. W. F. Byers is at Mt. Jackson, where she was called by the serious illness of her sister.

Miss Agnes Gilliland has been confined to her home with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hawk have both been ill the past week.

Not far away, the Woodstock, where my parents stayed during a visit when I had my first cubbyhole apartment in Greenwich Village... And the Hermitage, which collected my final $250 the night the boat docked from Bremerhaven, and left me without a dime to eat or get back home... The Lincoln, a little way west, where I broadaste every Monday... The Piccadilly, where two artists and a writer I know took rooms to escape the pounding turmoil of the town and work—in the heart of the Rialto blaze...

And that hotel a few blocks to the north, where a honeymooning couple I know stopped to find their room commanded a full view of a chorus dressing room and had to have the manager of the hotel call the theater and tell the careless chorines to pull down their shades...

And, going east, the high-hat Algonquin, whose manager, Frank Case, knows more writers than anyone else in the world... It was to the Algonquin that I went, nervously, to discuss my first story for College Humor with H. N. Swanson, the "poor editor" (I was 21 and he was 25)—and the only thing I remember of the interview was that he said, "You put your overcoat on the same way Corey Ford does"... And I said, "Thanks".... And he replied, "Don't be sarcastic. I didn't mean anything..."

ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 5.—Alpha Gamma Delta sorority at Westminster College announces the pledging of Isabel McGregor, Wilkinsburg, and Dorothy Cowden Youngstown, O.

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT
Or a jury made up of people who have no opinions?

Or a policeman when good people think of him as a public enemy?

Or a congress that is elected on the basis of prejudice and ballyhoo?

Or a preacher whose aim is to please every one?

Or a court in which the witnesses are hired to prove the case?

Or a bootlegger who has to pay for protection to pay profits?

Or an industry that has to starve workers to feed investors?

And, going east, the high-hat Algonquin, whose manager, Frank Case, knows more writers than anyone else in the world... It was to the Algonquin that I went, nervously, to discuss my first story for College Humor with H. N. Swanson, the "poor editor" (I was 21 and he was 25)—and the only thing I remember of the interview was that he said, "You put your overcoat on the same way Corey Ford does"... And I said, "Thanks".... And he replied, "Don't be sarcastic. I didn't mean anything..."

PLAYS come on so rapidly these days that even the best informed lose track. The other night a large limousine drew up in front of the Biltmore theater, where "Zombie" has been running. Out of the tonneau emerged a tail-coated and evening-gowned party of six. One of the men was a commentator on Broadway doings on some local fame.

The professional man-about-town rushed toward the deserted box office, looking at his watch with a puzzle expression.

A janitor was the only person he was leisurely sweeping the foyer. The Broadway accosted him: "What's the matter? Doesn't the box office man stay on duty ten minutes after the curtain?"

"Yassis, do he. But he doan stay on duty twenty-to' hours after de show close lo' good!"

Clendening Classifies Headaches

Chronic And Recurrent Head Pains Diagnosed

Dr. LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Headaches can be divided up into many ways. And have been so classified by different doctors.

There are two main kinds of headaches that suggest themselves to everybody.

One is the acute headache and the other the chronic or recurrent headache.

The cause of the acute headache is usually easy to discover. It may be the beginning of a cold in the head, and be accompanied by fever and malaise. In fact, a headache is likely to accompany the onset of any acute disease or acute infection.

The acute headache may be the result of indiscretions in eating and, of course, especially in drinking.

And certainly may be the result of fatigue. There is such a thing as "stomping headaches" in women, and "conference headaches" in men headaches which come on in the evening after a hard day of excessive concentration and activity. One physician thinks these are due to accumulation of acid substances in the body. He recommends the lady sufferer to combat this by drinking a glass of orange juice frequently during her work.

The chronic headaches are more puzzling and almost as numerous. There are several classes of them.

Headaches due to organic disease must always be mentioned. Such, for instance, is the headache caused by brain tumor. A tumor growing inside the skull naturally causes intolerable headache. But these are rare compared to all the other headaches.

In fact, in a study of more than 300 successive chronic headaches in a clinic, I did not encounter a single case of brain tumor.

Headaches due to high blood pressure are somewhat more common. But all the organic headaches together make up less than one per cent of chronic headaches.

Reflex headaches are common.

These are headaches caused by a spot of irritation somewhere in the head—eye strain, infected sinuses in the nose, infected and sometimes impacted teeth. The pain begins at the point of irritation or infection and spreads like an electric charge, all over the head. They are often called neuralgic headaches.

Migraine or sick headache belongs in a class by itself. It is the most common form of recurrent or periodic headache. It is, in fact, one of the commonest of human afflictions. We will devote one or two special articles to it this week.

All other chronic headaches, in my opinion, are nervous in origin—in fact, are neuroses. Many different forms are described; one is the kind associated with nodules in the neck, but on close analysis they all betray themselves as neurotic in origin. They also deserve a special article. Over half of all chronic, periodical or recurrent headaches are either migraine or neurotic.

Butler County Scout Masters Hard To Locate

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 5.—Representative J. Howard Swick has a supply of the special bicentennial Boy Scout poster which he would like to place in the hands of scoutmasters of Butler county.

Mr. Swick was given enough of these posters to distribute to scoutmasters of Beaver, Lawrence and Butler counties. Scout executives of Beaver and Lawrence counties provided the Congressman with the names of the scoutmasters in those counties and the posters were accordingly forwarded.

Congressman Swick, however, has been unable to get the names of the scoutmasters in Butler county and still has the posters intended for him in his office on Capitol Hill. If the scoutmasters of Butler county wish one of these attractive posters, they may procure it by sending their name to Representative J. Howard Swick, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

TIME FOR ACTION

Highland Heights,
Feb. 28, 1932.

New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Gentlemen:

We seldom break into print but it is high time that something is done to keep the money expended on public work in the county, instead of sending it into Ohio, which we have been doing for several years.

The contractor considers the world as his field. We had an experience in an Ohio city over 20 years ago and are going to relate this incident to show how Ohio regarded outside contractors that long ago.

We went to look over a job that had been nationally advertised and found that materials were very high locally, so when we bid on the job we used a margin of around $300. We have an idea that St. Peter got a sum in the state that was caused about this outsider and that surrounded us by newspaper publicity and otherwise until the completion of the job. In an Ohio city, at that time anyway, bids were opened at high noon, our bid was the last opened of a long line of bidders and then we heard "Who the devil is he?" and we was declared.

This is a job that the state is well equipped to do by local labor, $6000 per mile of the expense of this road is paid by the state out of the motor license fund. How much of this will be paid by Ohio trucks and autos—perhaps we are taking too much for granted, but we are informed that Ohio contractors' engineers have already looked this job over.

The county pays the balance, we believe, out of our taxes.

It would appear to us that here is a real opportunity to help the local unemployment situation in a real and substantial way.

Why should Lawrence county continue to borrow money for our poor and let our money go out of the state? You may understand that very little is left here. Every motorist that buys his license and gas, and every taxpayer should be vitally interested—it is our money that is being expended for Lawrence county improvements. Why can't we keep it here where it is so badly needed? Why can't local labor be employed exclusively on these projects? A lot of us had nest eggs, they are gone, so is the credit. He is honest but he can't pay.

Can't we get these jobs for our own men and get a glimpse of the corner around where prosperity is lurking?

Thanking you in advance for the space, I am

Very truly yours,

and supply men will be on the job too?

Alright, we believe that contract will be signed, so we will look a little farther ahead. There is another bridge to be let at Wurtemburg, concrete arches "probably". This is a job where everything except reinforcing steel can be bought locally, if the contractor so minds, but why let a job of this character at all in the days of unemployment? Why cannot the state do this work with local labor? If the state has not sufficient equipment, rent some. There have been contractors who were "lucky" bidders on local public projects in recent years who had but a few picks and shovels, some wheelbarrows, a few old plank, two or three pieces of equipment—they rented the rest.

Also witness the time wasted by an Ohio company on the widening of the Wilmington road to Walmo.

The state need not be handicapped by time limit. Some of the contractors made speed records. They worked night and day and Sundays. Yes, they worked hard to get rid of that equipment that was costing them thousands of dollars monthly for rent.

The state cannot build the Wurtemburg bridge legally or otherwise here are two more jobs coming up to consider. The concrete road along the B. & O. and the Mercer road through our district and we wish to call particular attention to the Mercer road. This is one of the townships roads taken over by the state last August.

unemployment situation in a real

The moral of the above is obvious. Alright, let's get busy.

You are aware that the Willow

Bridge is to be let at an outside concern. This type of construction requires very little com-mmon labor, so little that it will hardly be noticed on the payroll as a whole. We are informed that the contractor has a very complete bridge organization, which means that the form builders, carpenters, painters, ironworkers, mechanics,

truck drivers, operators, etc., in fact,

all the employees that draw a real wage are brought in as part of the organization, and you can't blame

the contractor. That's his business

The materials used will be cement, gravel, sand, limestone, lumber,

structural steel, steel piling, reinforcing steel and supplies. New materials. May we remind you that

SUGGESTED FEDERAL LEVIES

WOULD COST MOTORISTS

$250,000,000 A YEAR

The motor tax bill for the country, now in excess of a billion dollars a year, would be automatically increased 25 per cent if Congress should write into the pending tax bill the Federal levies on motorists

suggested before the House Ways and Means Committee.

This statement was made today by R. W. Bolinger, President of the

New Castle Motor Club, who declared that receipts under the suggested levies would amount to approximately $250,000,000 a year.

He pointed out that approximately

$75,357,000 would be derived from a sales tax on motor vehicles and parts; $150,000,000 from a Federal tax on gasoline of one cent, and $19,000,000 from a tax of one cent per quart on lubricating oil.

Mr. Bolinger pointed out that while it is inconceivable that Congress will impose all these levies,

it serves to emphasize the way motorists are being singled out as a class everytime there is a demand for more revenue.

While it will probably be several weeks before a Federal tax bill is drafted and it is known just what proposals for taxes on motorists are on the horizon.

Wheat Bill Is Given Hoover For Signature

Bill Will Give Needy Of Nation 40,000,000 Bushels Of Wheat

DIRECT RELIEF ISSUE RAISED

President Begins Fourth Of Term With Administration Voted

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Congress launched President Hoover on the fourth year of his administration today by putting squarely up to him the issue of direct relief for the unemployed.

After administration leaders defeated every effort to appropriate funds from the treasury for the hungry unemployed, congress finally turned around and authorized the free distribution of 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat through the Red Cross and other charitable organizations. The bill went to the White House today for the president's signature of veto.

Issue Is Forced.

This action forced the issue directly on the president. He must pass upon the question of appropriating government wheat, to be turned into bread by charitable organizations for the relief of the hungry jobless, after publicly condemning the monetary angle. It furnished him with a pretty political decision as he started the final year of his term.

Another bill, the Democratic $136,000,000 federal-aid road bill, put the relief issue up to the senate. It has rejected every appropriation for federal-aid roads this session, but all carried provisions for postponing or eliminating the condition that states must match federal funds.

Political Fireworks.

The Democratic tariff bill, also pending in the senate, threatened to provide more political fireworks. As passed by the house, it would strip the president of all power over rate changes. Republican senators have sponsored a substitute, restoring the president's powers and enlarging those of the tariff commission. When considered next week, it likely will provoke an outburst of political debate.

LINDBERGH MYSTERY IS STILL UNSOLVED PROBE NEW ANGLES

Lindbergh had heard from the kidnappers, directly or indirectly, during the night, he said.

"I cannot answer that question," he said.

"Does that mean you will not answer it?" he was asked.

"I simply cannot talk about it," he replied.

All efforts to elicit more information on this subject were unavailable.

Accompanied by a number of state troopers, inspector Walsh paid a visit to Princeton last night for some unannounced and unrevealed purpose. Newspapermen who followed them noticed that all the entrances to Princeton University were guarded by state troopers.

This fact was taken as corroboration of reports that John Geer Hibben, president of the institution, was to undertake the role of mediator between the kidnappers and the Lindbergh family if the former showed any inclination to take advantage of the offer of ransom and immunity volunteered by the parents in their public statement of yesterday.

There was more development heartening Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh.

It was the summoning of an extraordinary conference, unique in modern criminal history, of police chiefs and officials to co-ordinate all agencies engaged in solving the kidnapping of little Charles Augustus Jr.

Detectives Gather

Governors, mayors, high police officials and celebrated detectives from cities from the east coast to the Mississippi were to gather at Trenton today at the request of Governor Moore.

Out of this swift action was promised to imbue the intense hunt of the past 80 hours with an even greater vigor. It was likely that a minute, house-to-house canvas of the entire eastern section of the country would be determined upon in the pursuit of the abductors.

For despite the colossal dragnet with which the country was covered within a few hours after the Lindbergh baby was stolen, not one definite lead to the kidnappers or their whereabouts was picked up.

Throughout last night lights blazed from almost every window of the wood-ring white house where headquarters are established for the troopers and police. A light snow fell, covering the countryside.

Betty Gow, whose friend was held in Hartford for questioning, herself had been examined once more by detectives, as were Oliver Wheatley, butler, and his wife, who acts as housekeeper.

Miss Gow Cleared

It was announced that Miss Gow, who was the first to find the Lindbergh baby was missing from the nursery, was entirely cleared of any suspicion.

Five men were questioned late last night by the troopers in the headquarters here. Mystery was maintained concerning the identity of the quintet.

Many of the ransom notes and threatening letters being received at the Lindbergh home were taken over by federal detectives from the Treasury Department, sent here to help at the instance of President Hoover.

During the day more than 500 persons in the vicinity were questioned regarding the skillfully constructed ladder which the kidnappers used in stealing the baby.

Believing it of one of their most important clues, troopers canvassed the entire neighborhood in attempts to get some lumberman, farmer, merchant or laborer to identify the wood used in it.

Flood of Mail

Four clerks were in the Lindbergh home today assigned especially to handling the flood of mail received there. On one trip the carrier delivered three sacks full, more than he usually has for his entire route.

While many letters from cranks, the majority either offer sympathy or present possible clues. Theories plausible and fantastic are sent in great numbers.

There was some lessening today of the crank variety of missives, ascribed to the threats to bring criminal action against the writers.

Lindbergh received from David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics, an offer to "put any of our naval facilities" at his disposal.

At the request of a friend of the grief-torn couple, radio stations broadcast the Lindbergh's simple and moving appeal to the kidnappers for their baby in five foreign languages. These were Spanish, Yiddish, French, German and Italian.

Pathetic Smile

Despite his great sorrow, the famous Lindbergh smile familiar to millions still hovers at times on his face, though there is a pathetic wistful quality in it now.

The colonel went for a walk with the little black and white terrier, the terrier which failed to bark when the babe was kidnapped. He tramped through the woods for a porcupine gnawing their bark.

In the evening he and Mrs. Morrow sauntered along the paths near the house.

Governor Moore, who has been leading the efforts to trace the abductors, expressed regret of their outcome so far as Jersey City last night.

The case is practically the same as when it opened," he asserted. "Everything we know at this point suggests a carefully conceived and executed plot."

But Governor Moore was still imbued with a great faith that the attempts to find the Lindbergh baby would finally be crowned with success.

HOUSE, 90 YEARS OLD, DESTROYED

BEAVER, Pa., Mar. 5.—While members of the family were absent, flames destroyed Dr. J. O. Stephen's son home in Brighton township with a loss estimated at $12,000. Due to lack of fire-fighting apparatus and water, the house, 90 years old, was burned to the ground. The fire, which is believed to have been caused by a defective fuse, was discovered by Srivester Steeb, a neighbor, who turned in the alarm.

RAMSHACKLE CABIN IS BEING SEARCHED

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 5.—Several detectives headed by Supt. of Police Joseph Le Strange today rushed off by automobile to point on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware river, about 20 miles from Hopewell, N. J., to investigate a "hot tip" in connection with the kidnapping of Baby Lindbergh.

Non-commissioned officers school will be held in the Non-coms room in the Armory on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Lieut. George Mitchell desires a full attendance of all members at this meeting.

Sheppard was reported to have said a client informed him that a young couple with a baby arrived at the cabin a few days ago and asked whether they could be given food and lodging for a short time.

George Washington
No. 18. The Return To Virginia

AFTER SURRENDERING FORT Necessity TO THE FRENCH YOUNG COLONEL WASHINGTON, GREATLY DISCOURAGED BY HIS UNHAPPY EXPERIENCE, LED HIS LITTLE REGIMENT BACK TO VIRGINIA. HIS MEN, TOO, WERE DEEPLY DEJECTED, BUT HAD NAUGHT BUT PRAISE FOR THE LEADERSHIP OF THEIR YOUTHFUL COMMANDER....

ON WASHINGTON'S RETURN TO VIRGINIA HIS FRIENDS TRIED TO CHEER HIM UP, LAUDING HIS COURAGEOUS CONDUCT UNDER SUCH TRYING CIRCUMSTANCES. THE HOUSE OF BURGESSSES ALSO GAVE HIM AND HIS SOLDIERS A VOTE OF THANKS.....

NOT LONG AFTERWARD, HOWEVER, THE VIRGINIA ASSEMBLY REORGANIZED THE MILITIA AND PASSED A LAW PROVIDING THAT THEREAFTER EACH MILITIA COMPANY SHOULD BE AN INDEPENDENT COMMAND, WITH NO OFFICER HOLDING A RANK HIGHER THAN THAT OF CAPTAIN.

THIS LAW, WHEN IT WENT INTO EFFECT, WOULD ABOLISH THE RANK OF COLONEL. TAKING THIS TO MEAN THAT GOVERNOR DINWIDDIE AND HIS COUNCIL WERE DISSATISFIED WITH HIS SERVICES, WASHINGTON AT ONCE RESIGNED HIS COMMISSION AND RETIRED TO MOUNT VERNON.

New Castle High Defeats Zelienople 33-12

Locals Flash Fast Attack To Capture Tournament Battle

Lester "Bus" Reiber, New Castle Guard tallies Eight Field Goals; Zelienople Team Fast, But Not In Class With Bridenbaugh Quintet; New Castle Leads From First Minute Of Play; Marvin And Teplica Play Fine Game Ifft And Rogner Best In Zelienople Lineup; Locals Play Either Braddock Or Uniontown At Pitt Stadium In Next Game.

Displaying a brand of fast passing and accurate shooting that bewildered their opponents, New Castle High School basketball team stepped over the first hurdle in the W. P. I. A. L. elimination tourney at Beaver Falls High floor last night, by taking a comparatively easy 33 to 12 victory over Zelienople High. A crowd of perhaps 1,500 witnessed the game.

New Castle assumed the lead in the first minute of play and were never in danger. Led by that young dynamo Lester "Bus" Reiber, the Red and Black clad passers piled up a commanding lead in the first period. Reiber's total for the evening was eight field goals for sixteen of the points. Zelienople was outclassed, but not outfought. The Section 18 winners tried hard, but they lacked that certain something. The New Castle team played as fine a game last night as they have all year. Teplica, Marvin, Lasky and Reiber piled in the baskets with rapidity.

Locals Too Fast

Zelienople was a little over-confident. The Butler County quintet had taken the measure of Leetsdale in the first round of the tourney. They gained the wrong impression. Leetsdale was weak, and New Castle has a strong team, and that's the difference. The Purple and Gold clad players were probably good in their league, but they were not quite fast enough to cope with the machine that Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has welded together.

In the third period of the game New Castle held Zelienople without a point, only to come back in the fourth period to allow the Zelienople team to outscore them. Coach Bridenbaugh used a number of subs for the final quarter. New Castle's tremendous lead assured them the courage they needed and they were sure fire group of young men after the lead reached 16 to 5 which ended the first period.

Reiber Starts Fireworks

Reiber started the fireworks in the first three minutes of play by dropping two long shots and dribbling in for another field goal. It was four minutes before Zelienople scored and then it was Rogner who came out of a scramble under the basket to drop through a field goal. Teplica then commenced his work and hung up two more field goals for the locals making it 12 to 4. Rogner was the only opponent to tally from the field. Marvin's field goal and another by Reiber finished the New Castle scoring for the quarter. Young of the Zelienople team caged a foul for the fifth point. The score at the first quarter was 16 to 5.

There was not a lot of scoring done in the second period. Lasky caged one from the foul line and Marvin came through with a pair of field goals under the basket for the New Castle points. Smith scored for Zelienople. The half ended 22 to 7 with New Castle in the commanding position. A summary of the first half shows Reiber four field goals, Teplica three, Marvin three, and Lasky one. Rogner two for Zelienople and Smith one.

Zelienople Scoresless

In the third period New Castle came back with a burst of speed and hung up nine points while they held their opponents scoreless. The Zelienople boys had plenty of shots, but they couldn't register them. Yockey for Moorehead was a Zelienople substitution.

Reiber did not contend with his four field goals the first half started right in at the sound of the whistle in the second half and blasted two more through the hoops, and then after N. Uram had caged the only foul point of the game for New Castle, Reiber came back with another basket. Zelienople took time out for repairs.

Johnny Uram replaced Teplica for New Castle. Lasky caged the basket that made the score 31 to 7 at the end of the third period.

Locals Outscored

The final quarter saw Coach Bridenbaugh sending in his reserves. The Zelienople team won this round 5 to 3, with Ifft the big center dropping two field goals. Ebert for Smith was Zelienople sub in the fourth period. Reiber secured his eighth basket and then "Bridy" took him out to give the other boys a chance. Kominic replaced Reiber. Ostrosky relieved Lasky. Nocera relieved Ostrosky. Outside of the two field goals dropped by Ifft, Young accounted for the other point on the foul line. The game ended 33 to 12.

Very Few Fouls

Zelienople played a careful guarding game, too careful, only two fouls were called on the Coach. Sager team. Nickie Uram made good one of these tries for New Castle. New Castle had thirteen fouls called on them. Zelienople made two of the fouls good.

New Castle's next opponent on the W. P. I. A. L. tourney will be

Westminster Star May Lead Country In Basket Scoring

Brownlee, Lanky Center, Has Almost 400 Points This Season

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 5.—With 162 field goals and 46 fouls scored in 23 contests this year for a grand total of 370 points, Harry "Bud" Brownlee, star center on the Westminster College basketball team Tri-State Conference champions, has a good chance of being the leading collegiate court scorer in the country. Brownlee has one more contest this year, against Grove City to bring his mark nearer the 400 total.

Brownlee is not only the leader in scoring in the Tri-State Conference, with 68 field goals and 19 fouls, or 155 points for nine league games, but he is also the leading scorer in the Pittsburgh district, and has already eclipsed the high-scoring mark of Pitt's great Charlie Hyatt, who made 315 points in 25 contests a few seasons back.

Brownlee stands 6 foot 5 3/4 inches tall and weighs 192 pounds. He played basketball at the Lock Haven school, but spent most of his time at track. Brownlee holds records in the high and low hurdles and in the hammer throw in Tri-State track circles, and won a varsity letter in football, playing an end position. He is captain-elect of this year's Westminster track team.

Bessemer Takes Lead

Bessemer was unable to penetrate the fine defense that Union guards Sniezek, Jaworski and White put up around the hoops, but they did shoot a lot of long shots for points. Bessemer led 8 to 6 at the first quarter. The end of the first half found Bessemer still leading 13 to 10. The third quarter ended 16-16. In the fourth period things looked bad for Union with the timer's watch clicking off the minutes and then just when all hope was about gone, Patton the Union freshman forward slides up from nowhere and cages the basket that ties the game up at 18-18. Then Bessemer did break loose. Union still had a chance.

In the extra-period Phillips was fouled and made good one of the tries, and then Jaworski was fouled and ended his Union High career by dropping through another foul to cinch the ball game. And then some more bedlam and a hysterical Union High contingent rode through the night toward Union township.

Union Finally Wins

Union High had taken a basket ball licking from Bessemer for six straight times and the seventh proved to be the Jonah.

Johann and Jaworski closed their careers as Union High players last night amid glory. Both boys were in the game up to their necks and fighting hard for Union. Lannigan caged three field goals. Jaworski had two. They will be missed next year.

Coch Boyd is to be congratulated on the success of the Union High team this year, they didn't win any league titles, but they played real basketball and made it tough for the other boys.

Babe Ruth Not Worried About Cut In Salary

Kuth Likely To Accept Cut In Salary For 1932 Season

LOOKS FIT AS HE WORKS OUT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 5.—Babe Ruth, baseball's biggest drawing card, isn't worrying about that slight salary cut he may have to take.

Asked if he is going to agree to terms with the New York Yankees his answer today was: "I imagine so."

To Sign Next Week.

Everybody else imagines so, too. The signing is scheduled to take place here next week, and a fanfare of ballyhoo. The club is trying to cut his salary from $80,000 to $70,000.

The Ruth limousine, with Mrs. Ruth at the wheel, drove up to the clubhouse at Miller Huggins field this morning and disgorged the great man himself. He was attired in snappy brown golf togs. I didn't take him long to emerge from the clubhouse in baseball uniform, minus however the shirt that bears the word "Yankees".

In Good Shape.

Just to show he is a bold Ruth was wearing a white sweater.

Ruth looked fit, although a trifle paunchy. He was hatless and his face was brown as leather from several weeks of steady golfing.

"Oh, I'm in good shape," Ruth said, in reply to a question. "I weigh 222 stripped."

Yes, he expected to have a "very good year—the way I feel." No, there is no reason why he should not play the full schedule of 154 games. He expects to. Why not?

Home runs? Well, how can he tell how many he will make. He'll be up there trying. Last year he made 46 even though he was out of the game for a time with injuries.

"How about this wholesale cutting of baseball players' salary?" Ruth asked.

Ruth became a trifle cautious, it seemed. His answer was:

"It looks like there is a general agreement among all the clubs to slice the players' pay."

Did he think it right to do that? Well, the Babe just let that one go by.

No Depression.

Did he note any depression in baseball that warranted a severe cutting of the players' pay?

"I haven't seen any depression in baseball," Ruth replied. "The crowds still come out. Why we broke the record for attendance in Chicago and Boston. We drew 53,000 in Chicago and 43,000 in Boston."

"Baseball is the poor man's game. They can come to watch it even if times are hard. It was a one-sided race last year. I guess the A's must have won the pennant by 20 games."

"If the race is close this year, that is, if the first and second clubs finish less than five or six games apart, the owners will make a barrel of money. There was no excitement in our league last year."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

If Prayers Are Spoken In School

Simple Petition Submitted
By Myers Offends
No One

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

In some states there are laws compelling the reading of the Bible in school. Personally I should like to see it made a practice except for one thing—the rights of those parents who on conscientious grounds object to having any religious instruction in the public schools.

In those states where the Bible is to be read at school and in other states where it is read at the discretion of the teacher, it is a matter of good taste to select such parts of the Bible for reading as would meet with the approval of the three leading groups, Jews, Catholics, Protestants. The majority of teachers are coming to this point of view. Consequently the selections read generally are from the Psalms or Proverbs. Where can more unusual English be found?

Of course if it were known that no Jewish children were present there could be no objection to selections from the New Testament.

While attending an assembly program recently at the West Chester State Teachers' college of Pennsylvania I observed that the president instead of leading in a verbal prayer, bowed in silence for about a minute. The effect was very impressive. Those who wished to pray silently could do so without interruption; those who did not could so choose. The atmosphere was one of reverence.

In Helena, Mont., I visited an assembly program of the grammar grades, in which the children stood and prayed in concert the following:

"Our Father, we, Thy children, come before Thee this morning with humble hearts. We thank Thee for Thy mercies and we pray that Thou wilt so help us that those about us today may be a little happier and a little better for our influence."

Undoubtedly this is readily approved by all faiths. That a prayer for all children in a public school should be such as will be approved by practically all religions is, it seems to me, quite essential if we are to maintain the spirit of our democracy. When such can be done a worshipful attitude expressed by school children at the beginning of the day would certainly have some real virtue. As one school principal told me recently in my home city, "I could not feel that the school day had been started right without some expression of reverence to Almighty God."

Here is a prayer my children learned when in the kindergarten and which some parents urge their young children to pray at home:

"Father, we thank Thee for the night."

And for the pleasant morning light:

"For rest and food and loving care, And all that makes the day so fair."

"Help us to do the things we should, To be to others kind and good, In all we do, in work or play, To grow more loving every day."

I wish we might, in the public schools, go one step further and assure those few parents who declare themselves to be atheists that they have the privilege of allowing their children to retire from the assembly or school room while religious services are being conducted.

One thing is certain, there can be no objection to religious parents training their children at home in whatever religion they choose. There lies the hope of religion.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents, in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, on Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are from the Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear".

Previous Service Men Are Sought

Opening In The Army Service For Experienced Men At The Panama Zone

There are a number of good openings for previous army service men who might want to return to the service, it was announced today by Sergeant J. W. Thompson, officer in charge of the Army Recruiting Office, Room 303, St. Cloud Building.

They may enlist in the infantry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery Engineers and quartermasters corps for service at the Panama Canal Zone. There are but a relatively small number of these openings available and those interested should get in touch with Sergeant Thompson without delay.

Of course you know why it is called a presidential "boom". A boom is caused by inflating the value of things that aren't worth much.

The members who enrolled for this club are Clarence and James McConnell, Albert and Clarence Boots, Ralph Marshall, Howard Weisz and Phillip Wagner.

Any other boys or girls in that community who would be interested in joining this club should make their wishes known either to club leader C. G. Steffier, or send their name to the office of the Agricultural Extension Association.

DAIRY MEETINGS TO BE HELD

R. H. Olmstead, Dairy Specialist from State College will be the speaker at two dairy meetings in Lawrence County next week. The topic of discussion will be "Bang Disease of Cattle and its Control." This is a disease which is causing heavy losses to dairymen in many sections and will be of interest to every herd owner. The schedule of these meetings is:

Wednesday, March 9th at 10:00 a.m. Fireman's Hall, New Wilmington.

Wednesday, March 9th at 2:00 p.m. Home of Dr. Fred Taylor, Pulaski.

GET GOOD PROSPECTS FOR LAYING FLOCKS

Within the next few weeks Lawrence County farmers will lay the foundation of their egg crops for the period of September, 1932, to one year later. The size, quality, and profits of that harvest will depend basically on the baby chicks raised next summer.

Good pullets can be developed only from good chicks, but even good chicks may be stunted and ruined before reaching the laying stage and thus become poor pullets. It is quite certain, however, that poorly bred chicks never develop into good pullets.

Flocks of laying hens which consistently yield a high production of good sized eggs are almost certain to produce chicks of the same egg laying possibilities.

Qualities to be sought in buying chicks for layers are: high egg production, large sized eggs, white eggs, free from tints, strong and smooth shells, freedom from broodiness, fast feather growth, freedom from disease, true to breed and variety type in size, color, shape and weight, and strength and vigor.

CREEP-FEED LAMBS FOR EASTER TRADE

Lambs now on feed for the Easter trade should be well finished before they are sold.

In certain sections of the state, such as the central and western number of farmers having small flocks produce lambs for the Easter market. The most successful of these shepherds creep-feed their lambs until they go to market.

A creep in the corner of the sheep shed permits these lambs to have access to grain and a good legume hay all the time. The following grain mixture is quite generally used: 300 pounds of cracked corn, 100 pounds of crushed oats and 50 pounds of pea sized oil cake. Either clover or alfalfa hay is fed.

ADD NEW VEGETABLES TO 1932 GARDEN LIST

Many Lawrence County gardeners add one or two new vegetables to their list of old reliables each year. In this way they become acquainted with the uncommon kinds and often find tasty additions to the diet.

Among those suggested for consideration are broccoli, Chinese cabbage, Swiss chard, endive, kale and spinach.

Broccoli is grown the same as early cauliflower. The green flower clusters and stalks are harvested while tender, before the blossom buds are open. Italian green-sprouting is the variety recommended.

Chinese cabbage is planted July 1 to 15 in a fertile soil that holds moisture well. The plants are thinning to eight inches apart in the rows and allowed to form heads for heads. Chihi and Narrow Head are recommended varieties.

Swiss chard is sown like early beets, but thinned to eight inches apart. Cutting begins when the leaves are as large as a tablespoon. Frequent harvesting gives tender, tasty greens. Fordhook Giant is a good variety.

Cultural directions for growing endive call for sowing the seed in June or early July, thinning the plants to about eight inches, tying up the heads in the fall or covering with boards for late use and blanching. Broad leaved Batavian and Green Curled are recommended varieties.

Dwarf Curled Scotch kale can be sown about August 1 and the plants thinned to six inches apart. This can be harvested for greens when the leaves are about as large as a tablespoon and also after they are frozen.

King of Denmark is the spinach to be sown early in the spring. New Zealand for later use, and Long Standing Bloomsdale the fall crop which is seeded in July or August. The New Zealand seed should be soaked in water for one day before planting. Cutting off the tips of branches frequently and rapid growth make the leaves tasty as greens.

PRUNE GRAPE VINES

Grape vineyards which have not been pruned should receive this essential treatment at once.

Winter is the most desirable time for pruning because there is less conflict with other work. Late winter pruning, if done before the flow of sap starts, will eliminate excessive bleeding of the vines. Wound made now will callous over before the spring sap flow.

The Knifew system is the most generally accepted type of pruning practice in Pennsylvania, although the Umbrella and Chautauqua systems are used extensively in some areas. All three systems are acceptable, are based on the same ideas, and results in the highest possible yields.

Pencil sized 1 year old vines, with buds spaced fairly close together, are the highest yielders. Bull canes, bull vines and any coarse woody vines, with the buds widely spaced, are to be cut off because of their low yielding qualities, and thrifty vines with closely spaced buds are to be retained as fruiting wood.

A strong, well-grown grape plant in good soil can support about 60 buds while a weak, less vigorous plant can support only about 40 buds advantageously. Four vines, each having from 10 to 15 buds, depending on the vigor of the plant, should be left.

All older wood and dead spurs should be cut away as closely to the central stalk as possible. Vines pruned in this manner will yield a maximum amount of quality fruit and require a minimum amount of work.

INTEREST IN LOWER MILK COSTS IS KEEN

Interest in reducing milk making costs, Keystone dairymen, are attending dairy feeding meetings conducted by county agents and extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

R. H. Olmstead, dairy feeding specialist, reports 45 meetings in February with an average attendance of 25.

Five important factors influence the reduction of feed costs of milk at this time, Olmstead says. These are: production of the cow; feeding grain in proportion to the cow's production kind and quality of roughage, water, and grain mixture used.

As production per cow increases the feed cost for 100 pounds of milk drops, Olmstead points out. Overfeeding or under-feeding increases the feed cost of producing milk. When good quality hay is fed less protein has to be bought. Water helps to get more milk out of certain feeds. Drinking cups which supply water when the cows want it help to get more milk out of the same feed than where cows have to go outdoors to drink.
